Selina's ROCKS Australia Day @ Coogee Bay Hotel

What could be more Australian than celebrating our country's birthday with some of the most legendary Australian rock acts of all time?

The annual (now in its 3rd year) Australia Day concert at Selina's, sees the most impressive line up yet with Doc Neeson's Angels headlining a stellar line-up of killer acts. Special guests are Aussie music veterans The Choirboys & joining them are The Lazy's fresh out of the central coast & Modular Lounge who are well-versed in the live touring circuit.

Doc Neeson has always been a formidable front man, a commanding vocalist and songwriter and a conceptualist. The Angels roared through the Australian music industry all through the 70's right up to the late 90's churning out multiple radio hits classics like "Am I Ever Gonna See Your Face Again", "Marseilles" "No Secrets" "Shadow Boxer" and numerous other top ten hits. After a near 5 year hiatus, Doc has returned to the scene and will be performing all of the Angels' biggest hits as well as new material.

Like their mates The Angels, The Choirboys come from a long line of great Australian pub rock acts. They have powered through the last couple of decades, right up into 2007 with hardly a pause. Most recently they were part of the Countdown Spectacular that toured nationally & they continue to play hundreds of shows a year to their loyal fans.

The Lazy's are set to bring the true meaning of Australian pub rock 'n' roll back to Generation Y. Having only been recently discovered this bunch of crazy kids from the Central Coast are already garnering critical acclaim from punters and promoters alike.

Opening up the bill are Modular Lounge who have recently released their long-awaited debut LP 'Nightwise' to strong acclaim, on the back of 200 live shows over the last 3 years.

The first two Australia Day concerts played to crowds of over 1200 people each night and have become a local tradition in line with the Anzac day two up, so make sure you don't miss out as 2008 is the best line up yet.
